All those who are registered as students are welcome to attend this event for whichever subjects they are taking. The plan for the evening will be as follows:

Part one: A talk by Rita Barnish FICS about how to prepare and revise, exam techniques and how to structure answers. This is a presentation you must hear if you haven't sat a written exam for a while.

Part two: A presentation by Richard Scott FICS about where to find market information on topics being studied. Richard is an accomplished lecturer in maritime studies.

Part three: Open session where students can meet and talk with Members and Fellows of the Institute who have experience and specialisms in particular subjects. This gives the opportunity to go through past exam questions and talk about specific parts of each subject's syllabus.

The Revision Evening is an excellent opportunity to prepare for exams and be able to get help with particular areas of the subjects. It is an event where students can also meet and talk about the exams and relax.

Important: this event is free of charge to attend but please register at education@icslondonbranch.org.uk and also inform us BEFORE 8th APRIL which subjects you are studying, so that we can arrange to have an expert available to answer your specific questions on those subjects.
