- 4. TutorShip. TutorShip provides distance learning for ICS examinations, in preparation for individual papers, PQE, Foundation Diploma and Advanced Diploma. The Tutorship product includes a course book, approved tutor and workbook.
 - a. Tutorship Course Books are reviewed annually and are published for the start of each academic year. The books include at least 10 assignments and one mock examination.
 - b. Approved Tutorship Tutors support student learning by offering feedback to assignments submitted and by marking the mock examination.
- 5. International Teaching Centres (ITC). ITCs provide the Tutorship product locally within their specified territory. The terms under which a ITC operates are outlined in the ITC agreement. For consistency all ITCs must operate within the same parameters.
- 6. Tutor Approval. All tutors whether they contribute to TutorShip through the ICS head office or through an ITC must be first approved and vetted to ensure they meet with ICS standards.

Approval process:

- a. The submission of their CV to the head office to ensure the potential tutor demonstrates adequate experience within the subject they wish to tutor in.
- b. Potential tutors are then provided with a range of assignments (both stronger and weaker ones) that students previously submitted in their chosen subjects. Potential tutors must then submit the feedback to the head office for assessment.
- c. Feedback is compared to the marks already given to the student by an approved tutor before approval is granted.

- 7. Tutor Guidelines. Tutor quality is paramount to the TutorShip product, and it is therefore imperative that Tutors comply with the guidelines.
- 8. Approved Education Providers (AEP). AEPs are organisations that wish to support students with learning for their examinations, but do not wish to use the TutorShip model. Such organisations usually employ classroom (face-to-face) teaching methods. To be recognised formally by the ICS, such organisations sign an AEP agreement.
- 9. Bespoke Training. Bespoke training is organised by the head office to specifically cater to the needs of an individual client.
- 10. Non-TutorShip Courses. In response to a 'gap' in the market, the head office may choose to provide courses that don't relate to Tutorship or indeed education towards PQE. Such courses are to be reviewed regularly and should fulfil a commercial need in the industry. Presently these courses include:
 - a. Maritime World Explained
 - b. Understanding Shipping

Appendix 3

ICS Examinations policy

- 1. Introduction. Under its Royal Charter and Bye laws, the Institute of Chartered Shipbrokers is an Examining authority that sets and examines the syllabus for professional membership. The ICS' governing body, Controlling Council, delegates the responsibility through the ICS Governance handbook to the Board of Examiners (B of E) to cause examinations to be held. This authority vested in the Institute differentiates it from many other education providers and the discharging of this responsibility is afforded the highest priority by the Controlling Council.
- 2. Aim. To provide the overall ICS examinations policy to inform the Board of Examiners work.
- 3. Membership by examination. The predominant route to membership is via examination which requires an applicant to pass 4 compulsory subjects plus 3 additional (total 7) and be considered as "Completed PQE". The other routes to membership via Dissertation and Bye law 50 are not considered in this policy document on examinations.
- 4. ICS Professional Qualifying Examination (PQE) syllabus. The PQE syllabus is made up of the following subjects:

Compulsory Subjects

- Introduction to Shipping
- Legal Principles in Shipping Business
- Economics of Sea Transport & International Trade
- Shipping Business

Specialist Subjects

- Dry Cargo Chartering
- Ship Operations & Management
- Tanker Chartering
- Ship Sale & Purchase
- Liner Trades
- Port Agency
- Logistics & Multi-modal Transport
- Port & Terminal Management
- Offshore Support Industry
- Shipping Law
- Marine Insurance
- Shipping Finance

- 5. Foundation Diploma (FD). The Foundation Diploma consists of Introduction to Shipping plus one additional subject to be offered for examination. Both examinations must be passed in the same session to be awarded the diploma. The two papers in the FD are available for carry forward to PQE.

- 6. Advanced Diploma (AD). The Advanced Diploma consists of Shipping Business plus one additional subject to be offered for examination. Both examinations must be passed in the same session to be awarded the diploma. Successful paper(s) are carried forward to PQE.
- 7. Registration & Entry. To sit an examination with the ICS, students must first register as an examination candidate, then enter the exams they wish to take. Registration equates to the cost to conduct the examination itself (including venue, invigilation), whereas entry equates to the examination paper (setting, marking, assessing, distribution)
- 8. Syllabus review. To ensure that the PQE syllabus remains relevant to the changing patterns of the shipping industry a formal review of the PQE syllabus is to be conducted every two years through the meeting of the Examiners, Assessors and Tutors.
- 9. Exemptions.
 - a. Exemptions may be granted to candidates who can prove that they gained the equivalent level as PQE in all subjects with the exception of Shipping Business.
 - b. Exemptions are not applicable for the Advanced or Foundation Diplomas.
 - c. Students are encouraged to apply and pay for any exemptions within their first study year (exceptions will be made for students who are in the process of studying for qualifications which we would otherwise recognise)
 - d. Exemptions are assessed and approved by the Education and Training Committee.
- 10. Examinations. PQE examinations (plus those for Foundation Diploma (FD) and Advanced Diploma (AD)) are to be held twice annually in examination centres worldwide.
- 11. Examination Paper Development. The development of examination papers is of utmost importance to the examination process, ICS students, the reputation of ICS and the development of our corporate relationships. To that end, the Board of Examiners are responsible for the quality of examination papers. They rely heavily on the contribution of the Examiners who develop the papers. Examination Papers must:
 - a) Fairly and robustly examine the syllabus.
 - b) Questions must be articulated in a way that looks to truly reflect the marking scheme provided.
 - c) Comprise of a total of 8 questions, of which 5 are to be completed, pitched at an appropriate level in line with the status conferred in our qualifications
- 12. Examination centres. Examinations centres are to enter into a formal signed agreement with ICS before being permitted to open.
- 13. Examination results. The results of all ICS examinations are to be uploaded on to www.ics.org.uk within four months of the examinations taking place. This does not provide a detailed result, rather a list of those who have been successful in their attempt. Simultaneously, a results letter will be sent to all students with a more detailed overview of achievements, including the total marks awarded.

14. Examiners and Assessors.

- a. The terms of reference for Examiners/Assistant Examiners/Assessors are outlined in the 'Guidelines for Examiners and Assessors.'
- b. Appointments for new Examiners/Assistant Examiners/Assessors are to be primarily driven by head office, with the approval of the Board of Examiners necessary for all new appointments.
- c. Examiners and Assistant Examiners should mark no more than 200 papers each (although in exceptional circumstances this may be necessary). This is to ensure the vitality of the marker which in turn supports consistency. It is also to ensure that Examiners and Assistant Examiners feel adequately supported by the ICS.
- d. The appointment of Examiners, Assistant Examiners and Assessors must be approved by the Chairman of the Board of Examiners.

15. Examiners reports. These are to conform to the Examiners' report template and be submitted to head office by the deadlines given by head office so that they can be prepared for uploading to www.ics.org.uk coincident with the publication of examination results.

16. Post examination review process. Students who are dissatisfied with their results will in the first instance be referred to the examiners reports and to the internal document entitled 'Guidelines for Post Examination Candidates'. If students are still dissatisfied or wish to have final guidance, they may submit their paper for formal review, carried out by approved representatives of the Board of Examiners.

17. Examination procedures. All the procedures to be followed by candidates, examiners, assessors etc are to be contained in the ICS Examinations procedures manual that is ratified annually by ETC with an effective date of 1 May.

18. Compassionate Consideration

- a) A Compassionate Consideration procedure is to be available for ICS examination candidates to raise formally their concerns about any procedural or administrative issues which they believe may adversely affect them. In all cases these must relate to exceptional circumstances beyond a person's control. ICS takes such concerns seriously and the Compassionate Consideration Procedure is intended to enable concerns to be considered fully and for appropriate action to be taken when applicable.
